Application and Interview Best Practices

Connecting people to employment opportunities

This guide contains useful tips and advice for MSR members to best represent themselves during the job application process.

General MSR Information

Mission Statement

MSR is a non-profit organization that connects underprivileged unemployed people to education, training, and employment opportunities. Originally “Men on the Side of the Road”, because the organisation catered for men who stood on the side of the road waiting and hoping to earn a day’s wage as a day labourer. After growing, the strategy was revised to provide services to all unemployed people to include women, youth, and men with experience in all trades.

Windhoek: Soweto Market, Independence Avenue, Katutura
Swakopmund: Unit 2, Multipurpose Centre, Mondesa, Swakopmund
Walvis Bay: Corner of Sam Nujoma Avenue and Maxuilili Road, Kuisebmund, Walvis Bay

Contact Info

Swakopmund: +264 64 461642;
+264 081 488 4126

Interview Tips and Tricks

- Am I dressed in a way that presents me as a fitting employee for this company?
- Am I actively engaged in the conversation and making eye contact with the interviewer?
- Am I communicating with the interviewer in a professional and concise manner?
- Am I asking for clarification if I do not understand a question?
- Did I research the position and company beforehand and anticipate technical questions they may ask?

15

Submitting Applications

Once you have checked all your application documents, an application can be submitted in various ways:

NIEIS

Company Website

In Person (not preferable)

When submitting your application make sure to also include 3 references. These people should be people you have worked with before, not friends or relatives. It is important to ask for your references before putting them on your application.

Main Ideas & Table of Contents

When you are applying for a job, it is important to show the employer that you are the kind of person they want in their company. You can do so by displaying the following traits on application document and during the interview. Here are the qualities that most companies look for:

	page
Honesty	7
Company Values	8
Lifelong learning	9
Conciseness	10
Certifications and Competence	11
Communication and Teamwork	12
Lifelong Learning	13

Definitions

Honesty

Stating the skills you have and not pretending to have a skill when you don't

Company Value

Qualities the company believes in and would like to employees to demonstrate

CV

Used to give companies an overview of your skills

Cover Letter

Not required by all companies but a way to express yourself and interest in the company

Lifelong Learning

Presenting yourself as someone who can quickly and easily learn new skills is a quality that many employers desire in their employees, as it is necessary when working in a fast-paced and constantly shifting work environment.

Here are ways you can show the quality of lifelong learning:

- Previous training and completed courses
- Previous leadership roles
- Take initiative
- Understanding business processes and procedures

13

Communication and Teamwork

Any work environment requires working with a team of people. When applying for jobs it is important to:

- Be willing to work with others
- Be open to feedback and respect others
- Be respectful and don't respond angrily if your application is rejected. There are many reasons for rejection and often lots of applicants.
- Actively contribute and find ways to improve yourself and help others

12

Definitions

Certification

A specific skill that you have been trained in and received recognition for having..

Competence

The ability to complete tasks that you have been assigned and meet expectations at work.

Conciseness

Being concise is being able to follow directions and give exactly what is asked for

Honesty

Honesty is one of the most important company values. When employers recognize that a candidate is being dishonest, they will no longer want to hire or associate with them.

Never lie about qualifications or experience.

Hiring managers can recognize when an applicant is untruthful on an application.

Be truthful about previous employment experiences.

When you are providing references, only include people that you have worked for, and inform them that you are using them as a reference.

Certification and Competence

Certifications can show employers your skills and abilities. Through certifications, you can represent yourself as someone who can complete a job. Be sure to include the answers to these questions in an application:

(For construction/labor-intensive jobs) What safety training(s) have you completed?

What previous experiences do you have? (Relate the experience to the specific job and industry of the company).

What is the highest level of education you have achieved?

Make sure you are aware of the education and training requirements for any job you apply for. 11

Conciseness

Employers may go through hundreds of applications for a single position. To respect their time and to best show how you can fit into the company, go through your application documents and check the following before you apply:

- All documents are 1-2 pages
- No unnecessary information
- Be clear and specific

10

Company Values

Companies each have their own set of values, which include qualities they would like to see in candidates. Some common examples are teamwork, integrity, excellence, and safety. You can usually find these values on a company's website before you apply.

What 5 values are most important to you?

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.
- 5.

Ask yourself: do my values match those of the company? If they do, make sure to discuss them in your CV or cover letter. If not, look for overlap in the values, or be aware that you may not be a good fit for the company.

CVs

CVs are used to give your employer an overall idea of who you are and your skills. CVs should be concise and include information that is relevant to the job. Here are some things to review before submitting your CV:

- | | |
|---|--|
| ✓ Do Include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • relevant trainings • relevant experience • Education • honesty | ✗ Don't Include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • photo • irrelevant experience • false information |
|---|--|

Make sure to keep it CONCISE

8

Cover Letter

A cover letter is required for most job applications and allows for you to show how you are a good fit for the role you are applying for. In general, cover letters should fit the following guidelines:

- Be between 1 and 1,5 pages in length.
- Be neat, organized, and proofread for grammatical errors.
- Show that you understand the expectations of the job that you are applying for. Research the company and personalize each letter!
- NOT be directly copied from the internet or another source.
- Always be truthful about your past work experience and qualifications.

Identifying Job Application and Submission Best Practices for MSR

Lexi Krzywicki, Jacob Bendick, Connor McKaig, Tucker Raymond

About MSR

- NGO formed in 2007
- Picked people up from side of road for work
- Now includes womens and youth
- Have trainings and programs to prepare members for employment

Namibian Economist, 2014

About Our Project

What was asked:

- Identify job application and submission best practices
- Convey findings to MSR

Reasons to help:

- High unemployment
- Under/Misrepresentation
- Clearer understanding of application procedures and best practices

O'Neill, 2023

Goal and Objectives

Goal: Research the different job sectors in Namibia and identify specific requirements needed for each sector to help MSR members become more competitive in the job market.

Objectives:

1. identifying major industries and relevant job opportunities for unemployed people in Namibia;
2. determining what documents, skills, and qualifications are important to employers in different fields to help applicants stand out in a competitive job market; and
3. communicating our findings to MSR to help members find employment.

Methodology

To identify job submission best practices, we applied the following methodology...

Informed Consent Process and Preamble

As a group of students from Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) in Massachusetts, United States, we would like to invite you to participate in an interview for our research to learn more about job application and submission best practices, as well as the nature of employment and employability in Namibia. The purpose of our research is to discover job application and submission best practices to make the job-searching process more efficient and streamlined for both employers and prospective employees. The type of information we hope to obtain from the interview is personal experience from you regarding the hiring process at [INSERT COMPANY NAME HERE] to gain a deeper understanding of it, and learn the most effective ways to improve it. We anticipate that the interview should take about 45-60 minutes.

This is a collaborative project between MSR and WPI, and your participation is greatly appreciated. Information from our project will be published in a publicly available academic document at the end of our term and we can share a copy of our results if you are interested. No names or identifying information will appear in any of the project reports or publications unless you give us consent to do so.

Your participation in this interview is completely voluntary and you may withdraw at any time. This also means that you can skip any questions that you want. Do you have any questions for us about this interview?

For more information about this research and the rights of research participants, you may contact us by email gr-msr-namibiaD23@wpi.edu or the Institutional Review Board (IRB) Manager (Ruth McKeogh, Tel. 508-831-6699, Email: irb@wpi.edu) or Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu). Thank you very much!
